

Help Without Harm:
Finding the Balance Between Public Information and Confidentiality
ASPA Fall Professional Development Session – September 12-13, 2005
The Benson Hotel - 309 SW Broadway; Portland, OR 97205

William Keppler, President, The National College of Naturopathic Medicine, will join the Professional Development committee as facilitator for the Fall 2005 program.

Monday afternoon - September 12, 2005

1:00pm Welcome and Introductions

Panel 1: What May be Coming - Laying the Groundwork / Framing the Issues

- ▶ John Barth, Director, Accreditation & State Liaison, US Department of Education (USDE)
- ▶ Judith Watkins, VP for Accreditation Services, Council for Higher Education Accreditation (CHEA)
- ▶ Maureen Budetti, Director, Student Aid Policy, the National Association of Independent Colleges and Universities (NAICU)
- ▶ Sherril Gelmon, Professor of Public Health, Portland State University

2:45pm Break

Panel 2: What's Happening Now - the Reality

- ▶ Donna Gollnick, Senior Vice President, NCATE: Teacher Education
- ▶ Laura Rasar King, Executive Director, CEPH: Public Health
- ▶ Susanne Shaw, Executive Director, ACEJMC: Journalism and Mass Communications
- ▶ Don Simmons, Director, Education and Research, AVMA-COE: Veterinary Medicine

4:30pm Adjourn for the day

Tuesday morning - September 13, 2005

8:30am: Discussion of proposed topics for Spring 2006 - Spring ProD Committee

9:00am: Getting from Now to the Future – Working Together to Find a Good Balance

Meeting attendees will work together to explore different approaches to public disclosure within the boundaries of "good accreditation practice." This discussion will help accreditors consider:

- ▶ the pros and cons of increased disclosure, including the legal and insurance implications of choices made
- ▶ what different audiences want (or need) to know - e.g., students / parents, regulators, institutions, investors, the press

11:45am: Wrap-up; Evaluation; Adjournment (at noon).