ASPA Spring Conference

Consistency and Fairness in Accreditation

With the focus on accountability, accreditors must ensure consistency and fairness in their accreditation practices. In this program we will examine the issues and discuss approaches to:

- reducing bias and ensuring consistency in accreditation reviews, while recognizing the distinct nature of each educational program;
- working with teams, review committees, and boards to establish fair and reproducible outcomes, including such issues as inter-rater reliability;
- employing decision-making processes that result in fair and reliable outcomes; and
- developing risk prevention practices, fixing internal systems and implementing damage control when bias arises.

Monday, April 4, 2016 (all sessions in Crystal Ballroom)
